

HURRICANE KATRINA:

FIVE YEARS ON

August 2010

OVERVIEW

- The 2005 hurricane season spurred The Salvation Army's largest natural disaster response effort in the United States in its 130-year history.
- The Salvation Army received $382 million in donations for emergency response services following hurricanes Katrina, Rita and Wilma in 2005.
- $157 million was utilized for immediate disaster recovery - 70 percent of which went toward direct financial assistance to survivors – including gift cards, accommodations assistance and utilities assistance. The remaining 30 percent of the total spent went to meal services, cleaning and personal hygiene supplies for survivors, equipment, and transportation and lodging for Salvation Army disaster personnel.

■ $110 million
Direct Financial Assistance (gift cards, utilities, etc.)

■ $47 million
Meal Service,
Cleaning,
Equipment, etc.

Intermediate Recovery Statistics

2.6 million people
received assistance.

5.6 million hot meals served.

8.2 million sandwiches,
snacks and drinks provided.

25,000 survivors located
through SATERN system.

282,000 social service
cases registered.

178 Canteens and 11
Field Kitchens in the many areas affected.

890,000 hours of service
provided by officers, staff
and volunteers.

Ministered through Pastoral Care to 275,000 individuals.

DOING
THE MOST GOOD

1-800-SAL-ARMY

FIVE YEARS ON: THE SALVATION ARMY'S RESPONSE TO HURRICANE KATRINA, CONTINUED

Cities of Resilience: Programs to Reshape the Gulf Coast

The Salvation Army has continued to develop long-term programs, emphasizing community capacity building and resiliency.

- New Orleans, LA: The Salvation Army, with local partners, is developing 125 new, energy efficient and affordable homes, and renovating 125 more with green building standards as part of its EnviRenew program. The houses will be occupied by police officers, teachers and other key groups to encourage growth and development in the community.

The Salvation Army is also working to improve attendance rates at area middle and high schools through the Emerge program. With 19 of the 21 local Emerge schools averaging 92 percent-plus attendance, results are promising for the future of New Orleans youth.

- Mobile, AL: In July 2010, The Salvation Army opened a new homeless shelter for women and children on the site of a shelter destroyed following Hurricane Katrina. The new shelter will house up to 50 mothers and their children and provide case management, child care and educational opportunities.
- Biloxi, MS: The Salvation Army has begun construction of a 52,000 square foot Ray and Joan Kroc Corps Community Center. The center will feature a water park, a fitness center and performing arts space, and is on the site of Yankee Stadium – where The Salvation Army previously operated a “volunteer village” for Katrina aid workers. The center is scheduled to open in late 2011.

■ $225 million
Long-Term Recovery

■ $157 million
Immediate Response

Long-Term Recovery Statistics

106,100 families received assistance and in-kind donations from eight Salvation Army Distribution Centers.

2,400 community projects received funding to rebuild communities in the Gulf Coast.

2,200 homeownership partner grants for the purchase of new homes were distributed.

More than 5,000 people who became unemployed received job training and re-employment services.

84,000 cases registered helping 350,000 people with repair, rebuilding, furnishings and supplies.

More than 8,000 individuals resided at the volunteer villages representing 56,000 nights of lodging for recovery teams.

Opened more than 265,000 cases representing over 828,000 individuals.

DOING
THE MOST GOOD

www.SalvationArmyUSA.org